

Boorai, the word for 'baby' or 'child' in Wurundjeri, is the name of a unique children's art gallery near the Yarra River in Alabotsford, Melbourne.

Boorai - the Children's Art Gallery

Early Learning Centre

Boorai - The Children's Art Gallery is a new vision, one that is inspired by the natural creativity of children. It has been established by The University of Melbourne's Early Learning Centre to present exhibitions that stimulate and challenge audiences to recognize and value, the personal, social and cultural comments expressed by young children through the arts and language.

Boorai Services:

Boorai develops and presents exhibitions for local and international audiences and has established partnerships with a number of public and private organisations. It provides a variety of services including:

- The provision of a professional venue suitable for touring exhibitions and related seminars,
- The development and presentation of thematic exhibitions for use in permanent displays and for touring purposes, and
- Professional consultation for external organisations.

An Invitation

Boorai invites individuals and groups to:

- Contribute significant child art exhibitions for display at Boorai - The Children's Art Gallery,
- Collaborate in joint projects centred on the development of collections of children's art from diverse cultures.
